Movies From Our Other Studios

Girlfriends Films contract performer Prinzess will be appearing at the Hot Movies booth at the AVN Adult Entertainment Expo!

In early December of 2017, veteran all-girl Girlfriends Films performer Vanessa Veracruz announced her retirement via video on Twitter. We spoke with the Latina girl/girl megastar and the founder of Girlfriends Films, director Dan O'Connell, about her exit from the adult industry.

When asked to describe the most memorable moments from the work they did together over the years, both O'Connell and Veracruz agree that the unmatched level of professionalism was what stood out in their memories.

"Ever the professional, Vanessa always arrived on set impeccably dressed, sort of like the man who wears a tie to work when others are in t-shirts," explains the director. "Seeing her walk thru the door would remind me of Emmitt Smith, one of the NFL's great running backs, who always arrived at the stadium on game-day wearing a suit and tie. I always respected that as a sign of a true professional. That, and being reliable, which she certainly is."

According to Veracruz, "I love hearing Dan constantly remind us that we are an artist. The job we do/did isn't easy as most people may like to believe. Dan said it was important for us to carry ourselves with pride/respect and break those stereotypes that the adult industry carries."

When casting the big roles, Dan O'Connell often chose Vanessa Veracruz to bring some of his most outrageous ideas to life. "Along with Chanel Preston, Vanessa co-starred in 'Messed-Up!,' which is one of our best movie series ever. I'm certain that I had her do more crazy things in that series than I've ever asked of any other performer," he says.

Vanessa describes the experience as a challenge she was happy to accept. "The 'Messed Up!' miniseries was definitely different than anything I've ever shot with GFF. The script definitely lived up to the title 'Messed Up' but I fell in love with my role. What I loved about it the most is that it challenged me to become a better actress and to really understand my character and the emotions going through her/him through her transition." She also says that character, Valentino, became her favorite role of all-time. "Valentino definitely was my favorite role. It let my fans see a different side of me and I embraced my Devine [masculinity] for this role. Not to mention, Dan hand-chose most of my outfits that I wore, some really awesome vintage pieces."

O'Connell adds, "Vanessa is the essence of 'cool.' I can assure Vanessa fans that, yes, she truly is that girl any guy or gal would want in their own life. She's smart, low-drama, fun and just a great person all around. It isn't just a façade that she puts on for the camera."

When it comes to their time spent on the set, both director and talent describe a working relationship that would be impossible to duplicate. “I always had a very nice banter with Vanessa and she was great to have on set,” says O’Connell. “She has always given 100% and has never disappointed. Many porn stars fall into certain categories, such as the ‘blonde, big-boobed’ look. Vanessa was a one-off. I’ve been wondering about a replacement for her but can’t think of anyone even close.”

“GFF is like family to me,” adds Veracruz. “I love the crew and Dan so much, they’re some of the most genuine, caring people I know. GFF was definitely my favorite company to work with. Their style of shooting will never compare to other lesbian companies out there. Dan let’s you have sex, interrupted. They’re like a fly on the wall, trying to capture every sweet tender kiss and moment. It’s some of the most realistic lesbian porn that is still being shot. That’s what will always set them apart. So I have to say that was my favorite part of working with GFF, I knew I would get to enjoy the moment gently and magically.”

As the magic comes to an end, Veracruz describes her new beginnings and the future she has planned. “I’ve always said it’s important to do what your comfortable with in this industry, and that could change over the years. I gave my best six years to this business and I honestly believe that being in the adult industry was part of my life journey to grow into the person I’m meant to be. It’s important to listen to your heart and for me it was telling me that I needed to close this chapter in order to continue growing. It’s bittersweet, scary, but very exciting. My next chapter is more self-discovery. Growing spiritually is my heart’s calling. I fell in love with Yoga and plan to start my certification program in a few months. I’m also returning back to school to get a degree in nutrition/dietitian.”

“We will miss Vanessa but going back to school is a good move for her,” Dan adds. “She has already accomplished most of the work required to get her degree and it would be a shame for her not to get it now before life becomes too busy to do so. Also, being a porn star isn’t easy in a society in which many are biased against what we do, especially when that includes close family members. I’ve always looked on porn as a sort of public service...if laughter is the best medicine, orgasms can’t be far behind. So, I see Vanessa as transitioning from one public service to another.”

For those who wish to continue following Vanessa Veracruz on her new path, she says there will remain a connection. “My fans will still be able to connect with my through social media and I will continue to Cam until I’m done with school. I’m excited for my fans to continue on this journey with me. “

Dan O’Connell adds this heartfelt send-off message to the all-girl veteran starlet. “There is a long and difficult list of unwritten requirements that make a girl a true ‘Girlfriends Films Girl.’ A few of these requirements are that she has to be smart, reliable, sexy, sweet, stylish, pretty, curvaceous, outgoing, beautiful, fun, loving, unbiased, free of substance addictions, frequently engages in intelligent conversation, and just plain hot! This is an ideal that few attain. And I will pay Vanessa the ultimate compliment here: She is a true ‘Girlfriends Films Girl.’ And I’m sure she will remain so in her life beyond porn! Good luck, Vanessa!”

LESBIAN'S FAVORITE SEX POSITIONS.

Here we are, back at it again. The all so famous “how do lesbians have sex”, question. If you were lucky enough to read last months article, you probably caught that I talked about the Top 5 ways to sexually please a lesbian; what it's like to be a woman and feel the soft, naked, and aroused body of another woman pressed against your skin. More than likely, you happened to catch me saying “as a lesbian you could have sex just as easily with out toys as you can with.” and while this is a true fact – you CAN have sex just as easily with out toys as you can with – it is also a hundred times more sexually frustrating. I know, I know . . . you're probably confused, but bear with me.

Sex is fun, it's pleasing, and it's ultimately one of the most intimate and intertwining moments you have with a person; you can be as close as possible and still not feel like you're close enough. Body on top of body, and all you're doing is searching for ways to hold on to each other, to grab at whatever piece of skin you can, and invest every inch of yourself into the other. For lesbians . . . this is true and some. I swear, every bit of me craves to have my fingers deep inside of a woman, feeling her pulse, and making her body squirm for me; However, and truthfully speaking, not being able to use both hands can be a constant struggle. Having an arm/wrist constantly in between your bodies will definitely bring out the “not close enough” feeling and make you more frustrated than when you initially started. That doesn't take away from every aspect of it being pleasure filled and a state of nirvana; it just makes it more of an intense, kinky build up.

I think most of the time, when it comes to sex as a lesbian, you can lean close to every sex position a male can, and half the time we are thinking about fucking like men anyhow . . . or maybe that's just me. As all natural as I like to have it: kissing as she teases me, dragging her fingers in and out of what she made so wet, making me beg to feel all of her . . . nothing is better than the position of having both hands available to hold onto a girls hips as she is riding you. Rather that is cowgirl, reversed cowgirl, or pounding inside of her from behind . . . I think I like to glorify the man who created the strap on and thank him for it.

I would like to say most lesbians enjoy the same thing – but as person-to-person – we definitely all have our own likings. If you truly want a round about answer though, the reason as to why you clicked on this article to begin with? I will tell you this: Oral sex. Good, God! If you are a straight man and if you have a lady, eat her out. If you think you're doing it enough - you probably aren't. Being eaten out by another woman is sensational. Eating out another woman is something I genuinely mouth water over. Kissing the sweet skin on the inside of their thighs. Wrapping your arms around them while your face deep, feeling their hands on the back of your head. Watching their bodies arch with your tongue pressed against their clit. I like to think I'm open to trying many things, once again, I think sex is extremely fun . . . but when all else fails, from start to finish if you ask a lesbian what position she prefers in bed she will more than likely tell you “the position where your face stays between my legs”.
