SEX TOYS FOR LESBIANS.

I feel like the subject of sex toys has been on quite a few of our minds for some time now. I've slightly mentioned having sex with out the usage of toys in my last two articles, and while I wouldn't put it past me that some of you enjoy that, you are also eager to hear which ones are being used to better the –already great sex- lesbians are having in the bedroom. Well Ease your mind, sit back, and relax - let your imagination take over – because we're about to discuss just how lesbians like to be fucked when they get to rediscover parts of themselves and each other with the different toys made to please them.

I asked around to a couple of friends what sex toys they feel are the most common ones that people not only know about but also use. Of course a regular vibrator came into play as well as a strap on and to my surprise . . . a double-sided dildo. Which I guess isn't that shocking when you both just want to feel like you're being penetrated by each other. The double-sided dildo, in my opinion, definitely takes away any type of questioning on rather or not there is a "boy" in the relationship. It breaks away any boundaries - and instead - allows both females to just play into the natural roles of themselves, not to mention it gives us all the more power to feel like we're working ourselves inside of each other. Being a lesbian can be the most difficult when it comes to sex: you want to please them, you want to give them every bit of your body, and just let them take hold of you while you're inside of them; its great, but nothing can get more frustrating then being turned on by someone else getting turned on and not being able to feel that urging pulsing sensation against something for yourself. I guess we could say the creator of the double-sided dildo thought this one out when he created one of the best sex toys for lesbians.

If we're going to get a bit personal, I'm a huge fan of the strap-on. Maybe it's because I like to think I'm more of a male in the bedroom despite my obvious feminineness, but nothing will make me as hot and bothered as this sex toy. The idea I get to bend a female over and not only be inside of her from behind, but have both hands to hold on to her waist while doing so, will never lose it's excitement for me. It can be rough sometimes, when you have one hand with fingers inside of a girl and really all you want is for her to be riding you cowgirl with your hands are on both sides of her hips while she's bouncing up and down. Yes, lesbians think these things too - I know, it's a shock . . . but that's why I love the strap on so much, it allows me to experience being fully close to another women in bed, inside of her and have both hands to grip on to her at any point. Despite what people think, the strap on pleases both people, - even the one wearing it – While one of us gets to feel the intense penetration the other is feeling some kind of subtle rubbing against the clit, and I will definitely say it can make you wet.

Sex is so much fun, toys or not. But given the opportunity to enhance the pleasure . . . I'm going to take it. Rather it is a double-sided dildo, a strap on, or just a regular vibrator/dildo I want to feel pleased and I want to give the most incredible sexual experience to another. Lesbians have tons of options past the toys listed here and tons of options past their own fingers and tongue If you want to know another way to add on to the top 5 ways in pleasing a lesbian I suggest using a toy and letting her have her way with herself while you assist.
